

STAKEHOLDER'S ROLE TOWARDS A STRENGTHENING PARTNERSHIP AMONG PUBLIC SCHOOLS

by:
Charmine Joy T. Naval
Teacher Applicant

Teachers are critical to the success of any educational program. The school is dedicated to providing high-quality education and instruction to its principal client: Learners. Hence, the quality of education is determined by the caliber of the teachers. Teaching dubbed as the noblest profession, teaching includes a great deal of preparation and career development programs because it is so important in giving education to children. This profession exemplifies the importance of teachers in many standpoints of life: for pupils, communities, and the entire country. Teachers are regarded as nation builders also because information and skills that teachers help to instill in teachers and youth form the foundation of every profession in every society.

Teaching considering to be a challenging yet noble profession, teachers' fulfilment in this profession highly matters to carry-out the vision and mission of the department. The professional commitment of everyone should be regarded to continue kindling the dedication of our teachers. Professional commitment is a measure of how strongly individuals identify with their profession's goals and ideals, how much faith they have in it, and how much effort they put forth to remain a part of the profession. Furthermore, the concept of professional commitment for teachers is seen as a deep and meaningful virtue of emotional intelligence that is in alignment with a group's or organization's aims and putting one's whole heart and soul into a cause.

At present, where great demand in work and challenges faced by many teachers vis-à-vis with the effect of pandemic, still the passion continues to grow. The commitment and attitude of teachers play a big role to fulfill their sworn responsibilities for their learners. The satisfaction of a teacher relies on positive experiences that have transpired along their teaching journey as part of their great achievement.

As teaching pays a great pressure and obligation, yet many finds joy in providing quality education to our learners. The pandemic perhaps had never been a reason to stop our teachers to teach in various modalities. Their resilience and strong faith to wholeheartedly perform their duties had become their armor to continue education and inspire others despite challenging times.

References:

<https://www.dancker.com/blog/shift-perspectives-help-schools-thrive/>