

A TEACHERS' HEART

A Teachers' Heart inspires me with the quote, "A good teacher is like a candle consumes itself to light the way of others"- Mustafa Kemal Atatürk

A Teacher is like a mother inside the classroom, who always lightens the correct path for every learner she handles. Sometimes when the student feels difficulty in learning, lacks self-esteem, and faces other problems inside or outside the classroom, the teacher is always there to guide and help her. The teacher helps students feel welcomed, cared for, and loved inside the classroom and school.

A teacher with a heart is a humane profession, and compassion is the utmost feeling of understanding and showing others you are concerned about them. A compassionate teacher models that characteristic to the students with her actions and sayings, as a result, students will be more open to an understanding of what happens around them. In the end, students always admire and imitate their teachers. Everyone looks at a great teacher and wants to be a better teacher like other students want to be in the future, a better student not only for herself, and even a better person for others. A better teacher uncovers hidden treasures like students' talents, possibilities in their personalities, and magic right before everyone's eyes.

A teacher bridges gaps and builds relationships, friendships, and a community around them: students, parents, and others. Teachers always make things better and improve things around them, especially inside the classroom. Building a good relationship inside and outside the community is not easy but something a teacher seeks to do in the classroom and extends to the entire school and its community.

A teacher who teaches with heart teaches with passion. As we always say, “Teaching as a profession with passion”. They can produce a better product better than them. These are the result of their hard work and professionalism.

An open-minded teacher, who always allows them to share their learnings. Sometimes, students with family problems have difficulty going to school, misbehavior, and are slow learners. As a teacher with patience, I guide them, talk to them together with their parents and help them to learn during my free time. I want to encourage them and develop their interest to learn.

My dedication and passion for my profession can be seen in all the good products that I have made, and these products are for our students, who are now facing the challenges in life. Like what our professor told us in our class, “WE CAN BE THE BEST TEACHER, IF WE MADE OUR PUPILS BETTER THAN US”
