

STRENGTHENING THE SCHOOL - COMMUNITY PARTNERSHIP

by:

Sharon C. Diesta

Teacher II, Alangan Elementary School

School - community partnership are shared responsibility and a give and take process where the school and community develop a meaningful where the school and community and learning. When schools encourage the involvement of parents and community in its program and projects, they will be able to respond more effecting to the needs and welfare of the pupils. These kind of partnership will result in sharing and in maximizing the resources as well and the learners will develop a positive behaviour in school and in their respective families as well.

It is very important for the school of strengthen the involvement of the community to promote health, well-being, behaviour and improve the learning condition of each pupil. It posters deep partnership and cooperation among educators and guardians (parents) for the welfare of their kids.

Education studies show that learners whole parents are involved in the education of their kids are more likely to perform well in their classes/earn higher grades on their subjects, they have better social skills, shows improved behaviour and have high self-esteem.

Summing it up, linking school activities to the community positively impacts academic and non-academic achievements.

References:

The Educators 2015 Edition

Little Priscilla "School Community Learning Partnership Essential to expanded Learning Success," Retrieved from <https://www.expandinglearning.org>