

THE CROSSROADS

by:

Dorothy D. Pingol

Teacher I, Capitangan Elementary School

Once I said to myself, I want to grow big. Big enough to hold and carry things on my own. That dream enables me to continue what I have started. Before the others, I must believe in myself first. Challenges on rough roads are hard to pass. The clinging bridge is hard to cross. Indeed, the journey is breathtaking.

Following directions prevent from being lost. You can bring a compass or a map with you for your guidance. Take each step one at a time. Enjoy what you will encounter on the trail. Take time to read on different signages. Take time to rest. Take time to think while moving forward. You can look back but never step back.

Being at a crossroads is never easy. It will make you feel like riding a Ferris Wheel that moves up and down and round and round. Maybe, it will make you stop awhile. How will your journey change your life? Somehow, traveling with a company will make everything easy. Along the journey, you have someone to look over you. Someone who will guide and remind you. Will I take a shortcut or pass all the roads? We all know what is ahead of us on a busy street.

Maybe, we will run out of time. An opportunity will waste at once.

Like in our education system, we have blended learning. We, together with the parents, and stakeholders are at a crossroads. The journey is difficult. But, if we continue holding each other hands, we will pass. We will make this trip memorable. We will reach our destination for the love of our learners with flying colors.

References:

<https://www.quora.com/If-I-am-28-years-old-usually-read-spy-thrillers-historical>

<https://kidshealth.org/en/kids/organize-focus.html>

<https://www.atthecrossroads.com/>