

ADAPTATION OF FILIPINOS AMIDST COVID-19

by:
James Paul P. Gatdula

Still here. Every day we see public utility vehicles full, malls are crowded, clinics, restaurants are jampacked. Government declared level 1 that means no restrictions at all. A few are not yet vaccinated but most people if not yet boosted are already vaccinated for the 1st and 2nd doses for initial phase of vaccination. Again a few are careless in wearing their masks; letting it fall under the chin or not wearing it at all but mostly it somehow become their habit, a part of their grooming routine. It's nice to see that at some point, we are already adapted to the new normal. we can see social distancing are being, kind of set to lots of places. Whether public or private. People are more conscious about their health.

CoVid-19 pandemic might be a great challenge, but it could have the ingredients to foster new growth. We don't know yet what might happen, but there will be serious challenges to people's lives. For the hundredth times, Filipinos once again proves that whatever happens we will bravely face it and rise up again.

Negativity, disobedience is always everywhere. It's the reality of life. But still, there are a lot of people who has strong mind that will certainly do good and think right. That will be a reminder, an example and a motivator to those few, whose out of the line that covid is still everywhere, good people are still there to walk them through the right path and to do good things even if the struggles are always in here. Always trust God is always with us. To strengthen us no matter what the problems will come to us to fight and be strong in life. The success and the blessing of God always with us.

"In every crisis, doubt or confusion, take the higher path - the path of compassion, courage, understanding and love." - Amit Ray

References:

www.medlineplus.gov

depedbataan.com
The Official Website of DepED Division of Bataan