

GLOBALIZING THE EDUCATIONAL SYSTEM IN THE PHILIPPINES: A SOLUTION OR NOT?

by:
Karlo D. Villanueva

The digital age has greatly influenced the new educational era. The schools are now inclined with what technology offers in order to attain advancements and innovations in teaching as well as in learning,

The digital age brought different educational and technological breakthroughs that raised the quality of instructions and the kind of students and graduates. Embarking in the new technology, the educators and students of today are well-aware of the different things and happenings in the world and even beyond.

It is just right to highlight the technological advantages during this period.

Technology paved the way for the existence of mobile gadgets, laptops and desktop computers that are being utilized by the teacher and students in the teaching-learning process. The traditional learning materials are replaced by sophisticated software.

The emergence of technology led the way for online education. By using the different software materials, the teachers and students are able to interact online which is made possible by the Internet.

Further, the school or even inter-school communications are made possible by using different technology platforms like Zoom, Google Meet and among others. Connecting people via video or audio is made possible through technology.

Technology is integral in live streams of webinars and other reporting activities to inform the people and make them aware of the latest trends and happenings in the educational world.

The teachers became more creative and dynamic using technology as they teach students with the latest equipment to enhance the teaching-learning process. Likewise, the students enjoy advancement in education through technology.

Through technology, people in the school and even in the world are connected through social media. Communication is also feasible through email, texting or chatting.

Truly, education has gone a long way through technology as well as the entire humanity.

References:

Department of Education (2016) Financial Management Operations Manual

The Official Website of DepED Division of Bataan