

QUALITIES OF A MODEL WORKER

by:

Francis Paolo P. Venegas

Driver-Orani North Elementary School

In our daily living we often see people who are indeed extra ordinary not because of the physical appearance but because of the remarkable traits that they possess. Let us cite those exemplary characteristics that make a person a model worker.

A model worker has a good attitude in work. He or she considers work as a source of income but a means to serve others. An individual who manifests this kind of character is altruistic and ardent in doing his or her duties and responsibilities for the sake of others.

Another quality that a model worker is hard work. A hardworking person is always enthusiastic to perform any kind of tasks. He or she shows industry in the organization. This kind of perform is serious in doing the job and has the initiative to perform varied tasks.

A model worker is respectful. He or she shows respect to all people within the group. He or she deals with others as if accepting who and what they are and honoring their names and dignity. Manifesting respect for the fellow workers is a sign of maturity and professionalism.

Being patient indicates the good character of a person. When a person has patience he or she would be able to tolerate individual differences and would show endurance on the things that are happening around. Indeed, patience is a real virtue.

A model worker is committed to his or her work. This means that this worker is dedicated in the performance of job and is willing to do the best for the sake of the organization. Commitment is measured on the amount of time and efforts a worker spends in job.

Kindness is another distinct quality of a model worker. A kind person always wins the hearts of others. If someone has kindness then many good things will follow. Kind-hearted individual is always admired by others.

A model worker has a good interpersonal relation. He or she is dealing with other with harmony and sincerity. A person who has a good interpersonal relation gains more friends and attains the approval of many people.

Truly, a model worker exemplifies a person with the best qualities and he or she is well-admired and well-distinguished in the place where he or she works.

References:

10 Qualities of a Good Employee (With Examples). <https://www.indeed.com/career-advice/career-development/good-employee-qualities>

6 Traits of an Effective Role Model. <https://readytrainingonline.com/articles/effective-role-model-traits/>