The epidemic has revealed to each of us our own strengths and excrescencies. It's still doing so, as we acclimate to the conceivable stylish of our capacities. It has been a trying time as different aspects of our lives struggle to find a stable footing against the worldwide shock of this ruinous miracle. As similar, the internet is easing an unknown number of conditionings as businesses, seminaries, government installations, and different associations turn to online platforms to address the requirements of their services' donors.

Technology has incontrovertibly impelled us to reevaluate how education can be delivered with further ease and convenience, and it's at this point that we must be impelled to rethink and rethink the quality of education being handed amid the COVID-19 epidemic. We must first identify the values we hold dear or the values we ought to prioritize over all additional. The current situation which sees pressure between different places in the government –e.g., lawgivers against the chairman, the chairman against some government officers – causes disunion and that alone causes dubieties and anxieties to arise.

By relating values that we must embody through education, we can exclude unborn issues that's centered on the difference in the enterprises of each societal member. This step towards perfecting the quality of education first and foremost should look at the conditions and liabilities a pupil is anticipated to fulfill. Through the conditioning scholars immerse themselves with, the outgrowth of similar should project what we as a people strive for ourselves to be, that's to be law- abiding citizens, critical thinkers, and responsible leaders. scholars must be trained from a youthful age to use their critical thinking by applying propositions to real- life situations for them to hone their decision-making chops and to enable them to act through their own bywords.

It can be grueling to encourage scholars to share wholeheartedly in conditioning against the convenience offered by digital platforms and the influence of social media. For this to be addressed, each person has a different part to fulfill the community must grease the proper operation of literacy coffers, the parents must ensure the development of effective study habits while the schoolteacher must prompt scholars' engagement in literacy, and the scholars themselves must trust not only the people helping them learn but their own characters as well. The quality of education in the Philippines had seen better days when Filipino scholars' reading appreciation and fine capacities were no lower than the normal. But currently, current is the station in scholars towards studying just for the sake of studying when what should have been inculcated in each of us - yes, indeed those who are no longer scholars but rather learners in life - is the appetite to learn for the betterment of our quality of lives, as a result to our problems, and to recognize the offerings of our fathers who fought for the rights and boons we now enjoy. There's no quick result to all our struggles moment, but it's important to stretch our tails and fulfill our places in society duly to ensure that hereafter is a step towards a better interpretation of ourselves.
