Normally, teachers who are teaching kindergarten are females. It is a female-dominated grade level and each female teacher is primarily serving as second mother to every child in school. But in the new generation there are male people who also handling kindergarten classes and who are also proving their worth to be deserving of the position.

Let us cite the advantages of having a male kindergarten in school and his possible contributions to the learning environment and to the pupils. Though rare, these male teachers are indeed notable. The male kindergarten teachers possess attributes and skills which are different and similar to female kindergarten teachers.

Basically, a male kindergarten teacher may serve as a father or a big brother figure in the class. The young learners may find a male teacher as similar to their father, brother or male relative. The presence of a male teacher in the class reminds the schoolchildren that there is a person who can act as a second parent or an older brother to protect them and ensure their safety.

They are also intelligent and well-equipped. It is evident that male kindergarten teachers are competent educators because they possess intelligence and they were trained in various learning skills to make their teaching pursuits effective and impactful. It is said that male teachers are also smart in terms teaching and imparting knowledge and competencies.

They are also talented. Male teachers have lots of things to offer. Most of them are good in singing, dancing and other co-curricular activities. They are also good in sports and other abilities, either indoor or outdoor. They are overflowing with talents that would inspire the learners to have the same. Their aptitudes or capabilities would make the child be motivated.

They possess varied skills. In the class the male kindergarten teacher may manifest different skills that would inspire young learners. The skills in drawing, painting, storytelling and among others have impacts on the education of every child. A male teacher has the ability to create an artist, painter, actor or a creative person in a child. The male kindergarten serves as a coach and mentor to the young ones, too.

They cite male perspective which balances the thinking of the child. Usually, in the female-dominated profession of kindergarten teaching, the young learners normally hear the outlooks and concepts coming from a woman. On the other hand, when a male act as a kindergarten teacher the viewpoint of a male on something is heard and understood wherein the male teacher shows the best sides of man's attributes and stance in life.

They serve as best buddies wherein they are very caring and act as the child's support system. With the kind of care that a male kindergarten teacher projects, the child would feel the sense of belongingness and security.

Male teachers are indeed unique and are the best in their own rights!
