

TEACHERS' ALTRUISM

by:

Rosette L. Panlaqui

Teacher I, Orani North Elementary School

The society indeed pays due respect and admiration to teachers because of their altruistic character. The teachers are notable for their unselfishness and heroic contributions to the people in the community where they are designated to serve. The best thing on teachers is that they are willing to sacrifice and devote their time just to guide and care for the learners.

Thinking of the child's welfare. The teacher always thinks of the welfare of every child he or she handles in school. The teacher assures that the child receives the quality of education he or she deserves. In school, the teacher ensures of the child safety, well-being and happiness in the learning environment.

Spending extended time for the education of the child. In order to give the best for the learners, the teacher spend time in preparing the lessons, activities and instructional devices for their sake. There are several times that the teacher spends extra time for the pupils to fully understand the lessons.

Caring for the child's health safety and security became one of the biggest concerns of teachers due to the pandemic. With this, the teacher adheres to the needs of the schoolchildren to keep them free from harm that virus may bring. Likewise, they provide the necessary materials and amenities to protect the learners.

Giving time for remediation is one step to attain the mastery of the lesson or competency. That is why the teacher conducts remedial classes in order to address the pupils who encountered difficulties and who struggle in certain skills.

Doing innovations for the benefit of the learners is heroic. This also means that the teacher is willing to share and pass on the knowledge that he or she gained to his or her dear learners so that they will receive quality and advanced education.

Conducting interventions are vital when the need arises. This connotes that the teacher may introduce activities that would help learners to improve like in terms of reading, numeracy and other skills that are very essential not only in school but the future undertakings as well.

Spending their own money for the sake of the class. There are numerous times that the teachers are spending much for class decorations, instructional devices, school supplies and other materials for the benefit of learners.

Conducting home visits is one of the sacrifices that teachers perform in order to meet the guardians of their pupils. This is also useful in establishing parent-teacher partnership for the education of the child.

With these, we can affirm that teachers are altruistic and before they think of their own benefits, they think of the welfare of their learners first.

References:

Wijaya, E. (2013). Altruism among Teacher.

https://www.researchgate.net/publication/271520337\_Altruism\_among\_Teacher#:~:text=Altruism%20is%20an%20important%20aspect,than%20their%20personal%20well%20being.

Palta, A. (2019). Examining the Attitudes and the Opinions of Teachers about Altruism. <https://www.hrpub.org/download/20190130/UJER22-19512565.pdf>