Time goes by, students are changing, and they want changes. They are more on technology. They are fond of watching fun videos, mobile games, and social media. Like it or not, schools and teachers must go with their flow. More on teaching using ICT that can catch their attention. Think methods out of the box.

There are new teaching strategies that are fun to apply to students. They like interactive discussions, and teachers need interactive presentations. Some applications are easy to use. There are Canva and PowerPoint. These applications are teacher friendly. The good news is, they are free! Teachers have their license to use Canva Premium by just logging in using their Deped account. Teachers can also have the updated PowerPoint App since we have a license for Microsoft Office 365. Since everything is updated, teachers also need to update their strategies. In this way, teaching and learning will be fun. Using technology won't make teaching hard; it will make it easy. Make interactive games, videos and presentations. Let them dance, sing and create digital art. Showcase their talents because this is what they watch in TikTok and Reels. After the pandemic, it's time for them to boost their self-confidence. Teach them to have fun but with respect.
