

LEARNING AND FACE-TO-FACE

by:

Lorna C. Dawat

Teacher I, J.C. Payumo Jr. Memorial High School

The parents are excited, the parents are indeed asking for their things to be done and the students are excited to meet their classmates as they are also excited to wear their previous and new outfits in school. Face to Face is the new trend of today. With the previous pandemic and the now, face to face, the previous dates and year where the students are locked inside their houses, scary students tend not to go shake the hands of their classmates, the parents previously are talking with the other parents telling them the good things which happened with their children in the school, as well as the omnificent teachers whom are always busy asking the students' welfare., with the pandemic it had all stopped.

Now that the government is lifting the quarantine, the locked ban as well as lifting the usage of mask in the outdoor set up, everyone is actually excited as to what may be the environmental set up of the community.

The students, most of all are excited to what they can actually do and what they can explore on the playground and in the school scenario. What they may actually learn from the classroom and from their teachers. The Face-to-Face among the school now a days are quite the excitement among all. However with the excitement also comes different situations and responsibilities. What do we need to remember with this face-to-face?

There is still a possibility that the virus might evolve so safety is the priority for all of us.

Wearing of mask is still one of the health protocols amidst the educational environment we are currently in, so it is necessary that we might be cautious of what we are doing and tell the students to do the same

Dealing with the COVID 19 does not end with the current viruses people are experiencing, there might be more than this, so we need to be cautious and remember the effect of the pandemic to all of us.

Making the safety of the students not just from the viruses but also from other bad people which might actually raise a concern among others.

References:

Comer, J. (1997, 2022). The Home-School Team: An Emphasis on Parent Involvement.

<https://www.edutopia.org/home-school-team>.