

SCHOOL WITHOUT BULLYING

by:

Jessica T. Angeles

Teacher III, Kabalutan Elementary School

The students choose to attend a school that is nice and welcoming. That is why every school must foster a safe a child-friendly environment. The following factors must be considered in order to achieve a safe and a child-friendly environment:

Educational institutions must be responsible and accountable in the dissemination of the directives and policies of the Department of Education on the prevention of child bullying in the school. Everyone will be aware of the policies that should be introduced and followed in schools as a result of this.

One way of intensifying the anti-bullying campaign is to conduct webinars and other related activities in school. Having trustworthy resource speakers speak about this topic might help to create awareness and, at the same time, touch people's hearts.

A parent lecture or webinar should be held at the school to address this issue. We cannot deny the fact that the parents as the learning facilitators at home play vital roles in avoiding bullying incidents among their children. These young individuals will be well-advised and directed under their direction.

For pupils, the school must hold a values formation seminar. This could help the students who experienced to be victims of bullying incidents in school to be vigilant of their rights as children and how to prevent bullying incidents in the school. They will be safe from harm from the outside in this way.

The school should instill a positive attitude among its students. The school's good atmosphere may encourage students to cope with harmony and shun negativity.

The school should encourage children to form friendships. The friendly would imply companionship and so be conflict-free. Bullying will be prevented in this scenario.

To intensify the advocacy on anti-bullying, the school may plan and initiate programs and activities. The campaign on anti-bullying is effective in disseminating information and awareness.

References:

<https://www.greatschool.org/gk/articles/building-schoos/>