

SMART PHONES: A BRILLIANT INVENTION

by:
Christian E. Seguiran

The people have changed the way we live. In our generation today we can easily access to different sites and social media without computers by means of using smartphones. A lot of people are using smartphone nowadays. The latest statics confirmed that the number of global smartphone user is estimated 6.8 billion marking a 4.2% annual increase. In the Philippines there were approximately 79 million smartphone users reflecting an upward trend since 2017. It was also forecasted that by 2025 there would be around 91.5 million smartphone users in the country.

Thru smartphones we can able to communicate to our love ones overseas anywhere in the globe. If you want to watch for something like how to cook a certain dish or to watch your favorite movie you can easily look at this thru YouTube. Moreover, providing efficient and authentic answer for your assignments and research can also be accessible thru google by using our smartphones.

However, like any other inventions it has also a disadvantage depending on the user on how he/she will definitely use it. As a user we have the most autonomy to act responsibly on the actions that we post on our social media that will affect other people emotionally and mentally.

As responsible user we should use our smartphones wisely that will help not only for our own good but also to the other people. We can use this as a platform to promote something to voice out or to raise an awareness and certain causes thru social media as way to encourage everyone.

In conclusion, smartphones have lot of helpful ways on human activity making it accessible for us. For me the best thing to do is to control or to limit ourself on the use on this great invention because all things if abuse will cause a bad impact in general. How about you? What are your thoughts about smartphones?

References:

C. (2023 February 10) "Smart phones: A brilliant invention"
<https://www.statista.com>