

INFLUENCE OF EDUCATION TO CHILD'S BEHAVIOR

by:

Rio T. Mandia

Teacher III, Tomas Pinpin Memorial Elementary School

Education is an integral part of the learning process of a person whom to gain knowledge and skills. For widely known, it is a lifelong process of learning that begins at birth and continues throughout life. To have knowledge, understanding, and wisdom in one's field of study one should be educated.

Education is a vast subject that involves teaching and learning in many different concepts: from early to old age, from formal schools of learning to informal settings. Education can be achieved by many different resources: parents, community members, teachers, or even books.

Often so many people ask the importance of education. Education is the most significant things to have in our life. It is the key in achieving success, and helps you unlock your potential and your future's life.

Education will be a huge part of whatever career path you choose. If you want to be a doctor, a teacher, or an engineer, then getting an education is vital.

Getting an education will help give you more options as you age, if you still not decided what career you choose. The more educated you are, the more essential your skills will be when you needed most.

Education mostly influences the behavior of children. It teaches them to identify what is right to wrong, between good and bad. The reason why most of the time, teachers will have to tell you if the behavior is acceptable or not.

Many factors were influence by their parents since they are the ones who teach children how to behave. In addition, different factors influence the behavior of a child such as class, type, gender, culture, and ethnicity.

To name a few, education helps in the development of the personality of the child. Children will know how to interact with other people in the society. This will enable him to make friends, get along with others and handle situations when something went not in accordance with the right doings. It so essential to succeed in life and achieved in personal's goals.

Education helps to improve the moral values in child's life. This can make him choose the right path even in career or anything. To make him grow a well holistic individual. This is why parents should teach their children about the importance of good values that will help them contact to the society in the long run. If morality have been taught properly, they will make better decisions in their life.

Primarily, Education plays a vital role for the children to be a decision maker as its best. They will grow a productive and a successful citizen in the community. A person with great responsibility and accountability in every action made. A great help of morality and culturally social people in the future with a good harmony not only to his family but also to the people around it.

References:

<https://www.ecoleglobale.com/blog/education-influencing-child-behavior/>

https://www.education.vic.gov.au/childhood/providers/regulation/Pages/understand\_child\_behaviour.aspx