SYNOPSIS OF THE PLAY

REMEMBERING ERLINDA

Written By: Ricardo "Dingdong" Novenario

Directed By: Carlos "Bong" Ramos

Music By: Shaina Rey Pisigan

As the school year nears its conclusion, Abigail was tapped by her History Teacher, Ms. Nieves, to direct a play about Erlinda--- a young woman found half-buried and believed to be raped by the Japanese soldiers during the war.

"Remember Erlinda!" became their battle cry, as it spurred the Filipino soldiers to retaliate during their occupation of the country.

However, Abigail was hesitant.

Yet is determined to prove her capabilities. Along the process of creating the play, she encounters all the struggles a woman in this country had to live and die for--- from her own personal experiences to the courageous women whose contributions to the war aren't documented and acknowledged.

Abigail endeavors to weigh every decision she has to make, for college, relationships, and the play. This is a tale of choices, realizing one's worth, and empowerment. Will she find and choose the right solution for all of these?
