

HOW IMPORTANT EDUCATION IS

by:

Roberto R. Pantig

Senior Education Program Specialist

Education is now crucial for everyone. Education level is what enables people to gain acceptance and respect. It is a necessary component of existence on both a personal and social level. The disparity in educational standards, however, continues to be a significant issue that requires attention.

Education isn't about how well you can read and write; it's about how well you can interact with and comprehend the outside world. A quality education not only imparts knowledge but also broadens your horizons, improves your viewpoint, and empowers you to make your own decisions. Today's population is well aware of and at ease discussing social injustices and other important topics. This can be due to the expanded educational opportunities available globally, which has led to a more accepting and tolerant culture. Education is thus a component of human evolution. Creativity and innovation are other areas where education is crucial. Education supports creative problem-solving and trying out novel concepts.

It goes without saying that education has a good impact on people's lives because nobody can dispute its importance. Everyone should be studying. People can now learn a great deal about everything they are interested in, including math, current events, currency rates, other people's cultures, and so on, thanks to the invention of watching TV or reading books. It seems that education can help people become more useful and civilized. Life cannot be as thriving and affluent as it is in places with a high degree of education when inhabitants cannot acquire a proper education.

Institutions of higher learning are crucial to the development and progress of a person. Education undoubtedly helps someone get ready for the kind of life a graduate lead after completing the necessary years of training.

Sotelo emphasized that among the elements that helped graduates reach the pinnacles of success were wisdom, a strong will, enormous sacrifices, and good fortune.

Hence, it is the responsibility of the school to ensure that all learning objectives and experiences are focused on the welfare of the learner as well as the welfare of the society in which they will play an essential and active role.

References:

<https://buyessayfriend.com/essay-on-education>

<https://www.linkedin.com/pulse/education-opens-gateway-success-debeshchoudhury-ph-d->