Being a leader is not always a bed of roses. Leaders provide guidance, inspiration and motivation when achieving goals. Managing groups of people with different characteristics is not an easy task. The positive leadership style could create an inspiring environment where everyone would feel freedom in expressing their ideas, expertise and skills that would sustain their engagement in accomplishing their task. If the leader has a positive working attitude, it would be easy for him to overcome challenges and could easily promote better job performance among other members of the team. Positive leadership helps to prepare the way for handling adverse scenarios and trying times. Team members have no doubts about what is expected of them and what they can do to achieve their goals. Being positive could also inspire and motivate people to go the extra mile that may contribute. a stronger commitment to make an excellent performance in doing their job. Positive leaders are always successful leaders, because they do not only enhance value creation but also inspire others to emulate their attitude which will make them good well-being. So if the leader wants his members to have a strong organizational commitment he needs to let them feel positivity in his leadership, so that they will encouraged to cooperate and participate in all processes.
