It is undeniable that most of the children spend most of their time in school in a year. These young people seem happy and grateful because it is more fun in school. Let us discover the reasons regarding this scenario.

There is play. Children love to play. In school, teachers always integrate play or game in the lesson. This activity makes the school more fun for it enriches the learning experiences of the children.

Learners mingle with each other. The friendship established among these learners makes their stay in school as more comfortable, happier, and more exciting. Having moments together in school indeed creates fun experiences.

There is sharing of ideas. When the learners are together in school, they enjoy sharing ideas together. They feel more relaxed and more trusting to their peers because they believe that they are sharing great ideas together.

Creativity is being developed. Teachers truly develop creativity among the children. This becomes more fun because they can discover their abilities and talents. Moreover, showcasing creativity before the class is indeed fulfilling.

Talents are being highlighted. The singing, dancing, acting, other types of talents are being given more attention in school. There are certain activities or programs wherein the learners manifest their talents, and these undertakings show how they enjoy the times in school.

Fostering of team spirit. The unity of the schoolchildren is evident in school. There are several activities where the learners have cooperation and collaboration, and these are helpful in their enjoyment.

Meeting different personalities. It is indeed true that the learners love to meet different types of people and it is evident in school. They can relate and adjust to them and that is also considered as more fun.

The exceptional things and great experience that the learners encounter in school truly contribute to their fun and happiness.
