

MOTIVATING FACTORS

by:

JENNY ROSE B. MERCADO

Teacher II, Paraiso Elementary School

Teachers need to think of the motivating factors that will be helpful in gaining the attention of learners amidst the impact of social media nowadays. These should be catchy, child-friendly, and inspiring.

Classroom Set-up. An attractive and well-organized classroom is indeed motivating. This will lead the learners to be inspired in their daily activities in school. The classroom that is inviting will create better learning among children.

Teacher's Personality. The kind of teacher in the classroom has a big impact on the child's learning. The personality of the teacher will be contributory to the child's motivation. A teacher who is approachable and compassionate is being loved by students.

Teaching Approaches. The teaching methods being employed by a teacher are very significant. When a teacher employs innovative and new ways in teaching, better learning takes place, thus yielding better performances among learners.

Parents' Involvement. The involvement of parents in the education of the child is vital. When the parents serve as the partners of teachers, the children are more motivated to study and perform in classroom undertakings.

Peer Relationship. The bond that put the children together is motivating. The child loves to go to school because he considers his classmates as brothers or sisters. They serve as his buddies who inspire him to be in school every day.

Types of Assessment. The types of assessment that a teacher applies in the classroom truly affect the performance of learners. When there is a variety in assessments, the learners are motivated.

Positive Environment. The positive learning environment is very important. This kind of ambiance would certainly create optimistic mindsets and actions among learners. A positive learning environment is truly a motivating factor.

Every teacher is being encouraged to make a difference in the profession that he or she is into. A teacher needs to consider the motivating factors to promote better learning among schoolchildren.

References:

8 Factors that Affect Students' Motivation in Education.

<https://www.builtbyme.com/students-motivation-in-education/>

How to motivate a child to study.

<https://www.allisonacademy.com/parents/parenting/how-to-motivate-a-child-to-study/>