School Principal I

In the spirit of unity and collaboration, Brigada Eskwela remains a cornerstone of our shared commitment to education. This year as we once again join hands to prepare our school for another academic year, we are reminded of the power of resilience. Resilience is not just about enduring challenges, it is about rising stronger with every hurdle, learning from experiences, and fostering a community that supports each other in times of need.

At the heart of Brigada Eskwela is the unwavering volunteerism that has driven us year after year. It is this spirit that builds the foundation of a resilient school one where every individual, from students and parents to that is prepared to face any adversity. Our school's resilience is a reflection of the collective effort and dedication challenges and continue to provide education for our learners.

The resilience of a school is not measured solely by its physical infrastructure, but by the strength of the community that sustains it. Each volunteer who gives their time, resources, and effort is contributing to the creation of a resilient ecosystem, one that prioritizes the well-being and future of our children. Your participation in Brigada Eskwela is a testament of the power of collective action, building a school that is not only prepared for the future but capable of thriving in it.

Let us continue to embrace the values of Brigada Eskwela – unity, self-reliance, and service. Your commitment is what makes our school not just a place of education, but a symbol of hope and possibility.

We rise - together, more resilient and united.
