

SUPREME ELEMENTARY LEARNER GOVERNMENT: EMPOWERING YOUNG LEADERS

by:

Mearnie P. Panganiban

Teacher I, Pita Elementary School

The Supreme Elementary Learner Government (SELG) is a student group that offers leadership experiences for elementary students, enhancing their abilities in governance, decision-making, and collaboration. As a governing entity, the SELG embodies the unified voice of young learners and acts as a forum for discussing their issues, thoughts, and ambitions. The SELG fosters friendship, teamwork, and the significance of civic duty among its members through structured programs and activities. These efforts not only foster leadership abilities but also create a sense of community, belonging, and pride in the school atmosphere.

By involving elementary students in governance, the SELG aids in cultivating vital life skills like communication, problem-solving, and critical thinking. Students engage actively in school development by organizing events, suggesting policies, and executing projects designed to improve their educational environment. Engaging in SELG activities enables students to assume responsibility, make knowledgeable choices, and collaborate towards shared objectives. Additionally, the SELG fosters principles such as collaboration, honesty, and responsibility, transforming its members into future leaders ready to embrace more significant roles in higher education and the wider community.

The importance of the SELG goes beyond just leadership training; it promotes inclusivity by inviting representation from all grade levels, guaranteeing that the various perspectives and requirements of the student body are met. This inclusiveness enhances the connection between students and fosters mutual understanding and respect in the school environment. Moreover, SELG initiatives frequently encompass outreach efforts and community service projects, emphasizing the significance of empathy, social responsibility, and the importance of contributing to the community.

As an essential element of primary education, the SELG fosters a culture of active involvement, responsible citizenship, and continuous learning among young students. It offers students chances to engage directly in the democratic process, motivating them to become active participants in society. By equipping students from a young age, the SELG establishes a solid base for their personal development, social skills, and future leadership opportunities. By doing this, the SELG not only fosters self-assured and competent individuals but also plays a role in creating a more socially aware generation of leaders who will positively influence the future.

References:

Department of Education. (n.d.). The Constitution and By-Laws of the Supreme Pupil and Supreme Student Government in Elementary and Secondary Schools. Retrieved from https://www.depednegor.net/uploads/8/3/5/2/8352879/tatp_spg__ssg_consti_and_by_laws.pdf

San Antonio Elementary School. (n.d.). Supreme Pupil Government. Retrieved from <https://sanes.depedparanaquecity.com/spg/>

Rollona, R. M., & Pañares, N. C. (n.d.). Supreme Pupils' Government Commitment and Academic Performance. Retrieved from https://www.researchgate.net/publication/372566666_Supreme_Pupils%27_Government_Commitment_and_Academic_Performance