The field of education has recently introduced Ukit Marangal Program that will pave the way to the character and moral improvement of the leaders, teachers, personnel, and learners in the Department of Education (DepEd).

This will set the future of education that is not only focused on the efficiency and competence but also on moral enhancement. This will assist the school leaders to reach a good leadership direction that is being guided by standards of morality and is characterized with ethical attitudes and behaviors.

Ukit Marangal Program is after for building a good foundation of one's character. This means that people in the Department of Education (DepEd) most especially the leaders are expected to establish a good character that manifests the expected attributes of a real public servant. There should be a strong foundation of morality to show an exemplary character.

The transformation among the members of the education must be evident. This connotes that people constituting the department should have a picture of a better change in terms of character and morality. They should execute a good natured and well-mannered personality.

Ukit Marangal upholds the moral values which help a person achieve a good character. The values of honesty, integrity, peace loving, compassion, humility and among others should be present in one's character.

The holistic development of teachers and learners is being advocated in Ukit Marangal but the topmost priority is the character formation. In its paradigm, Ukit Marangal placed character at the top, as the most important aspect of one's development.

Ukit Marangal pushes with the concept of moral and innovative stewardship among leaders. The school leaders should lead the school by employing morality and innovation. The school leadership should be guided by moral standards and should meet the expectations for progress.

Indeed, the Ukit Marangal Program is what every school needs nowadays. It is truly helping the educational institution in achieving its moral nature but also leading the people in attaining a good or even a better character.
